THE BLACK VEIL

by the House

EVERY BEVERAGE DISPENSED FOR MEDICINAL USE ONLY

TONICS & MEDICINES

The House Martini

Gin and vermouth, stirred cold, an olive for the nerves. Recommended for the nervous.

Bee's Knees — a word in the Butler's ear

Gin, lemon and honey. A soothing remedy for the throat.

Gin Rickey — a word in the Butler's ear

Gin, lime and soda over ice. A cooling draught for summer ailments.

Old Fashioned — a word in the Butler's ear

Whiskey, a lump of sugar and bitters. A time-honoured restorative.

Mary Pickford — a word in the Butler's ear

Rum, pineapple and grenadine, a cherry on top. For delicate constitutions.

French 75 — a word in the Butler's ear

Gin, lemon and sparkling wine. A tonic with a kick.

Mint Julep — a word in the Butler's ear

Whiskey, mint and sugar over crushed ice. A garden remedy.

Temperance Tonic — a word in the Butler's ear

No spirits whatever: ginger, lemon and soda. For the strictly abstemious.

Cold Tea — a word in the Butler's ear

The House whiskey, served in a teacup. Do not ask what is in the pot.

Coffee — a word in the Butler's ear

Hot, black and strictly medicinal.

LIGHT REMEDIES · A WORD IN THE BUTLER'S EAR

Devilled Eggs

A dose of paprika.

Olives and Pickles

Briny and beneficial.

Salted Nuts

Keep the strength up.

Cheese and Crackers

Sharp, and easily swallowed.

Little Sandwiches

Cucumber, ham or egg salad.

Petits Fours

For the sweet-toothed invalid.

All prices: a word in the Butler's ear. The House reserves the right to ask no questions.